

The Wizard of Id

Rodney's nose used to be markedly larger—about twice the size of most other characters' noses—but in current strips his nose is about the same size as everyone else's, which dampens jokes about his nose.

We're all tired of our grandfather's stories of how it was in his day. Candy bars cost a nickel. The whole town had one phone that everyone had to share. Jokes about Sir Rodney's nose weren't dampened because it was markedly larger. We get it, Grandpa!!
